

LET'S BEE
FRIENDS!

Once upon a time, in a
garden full of flowers,

there lived a hardworking insect.

Everyday,
the bee travels

From one flower
to another .

Good work,
butterfly!

However...

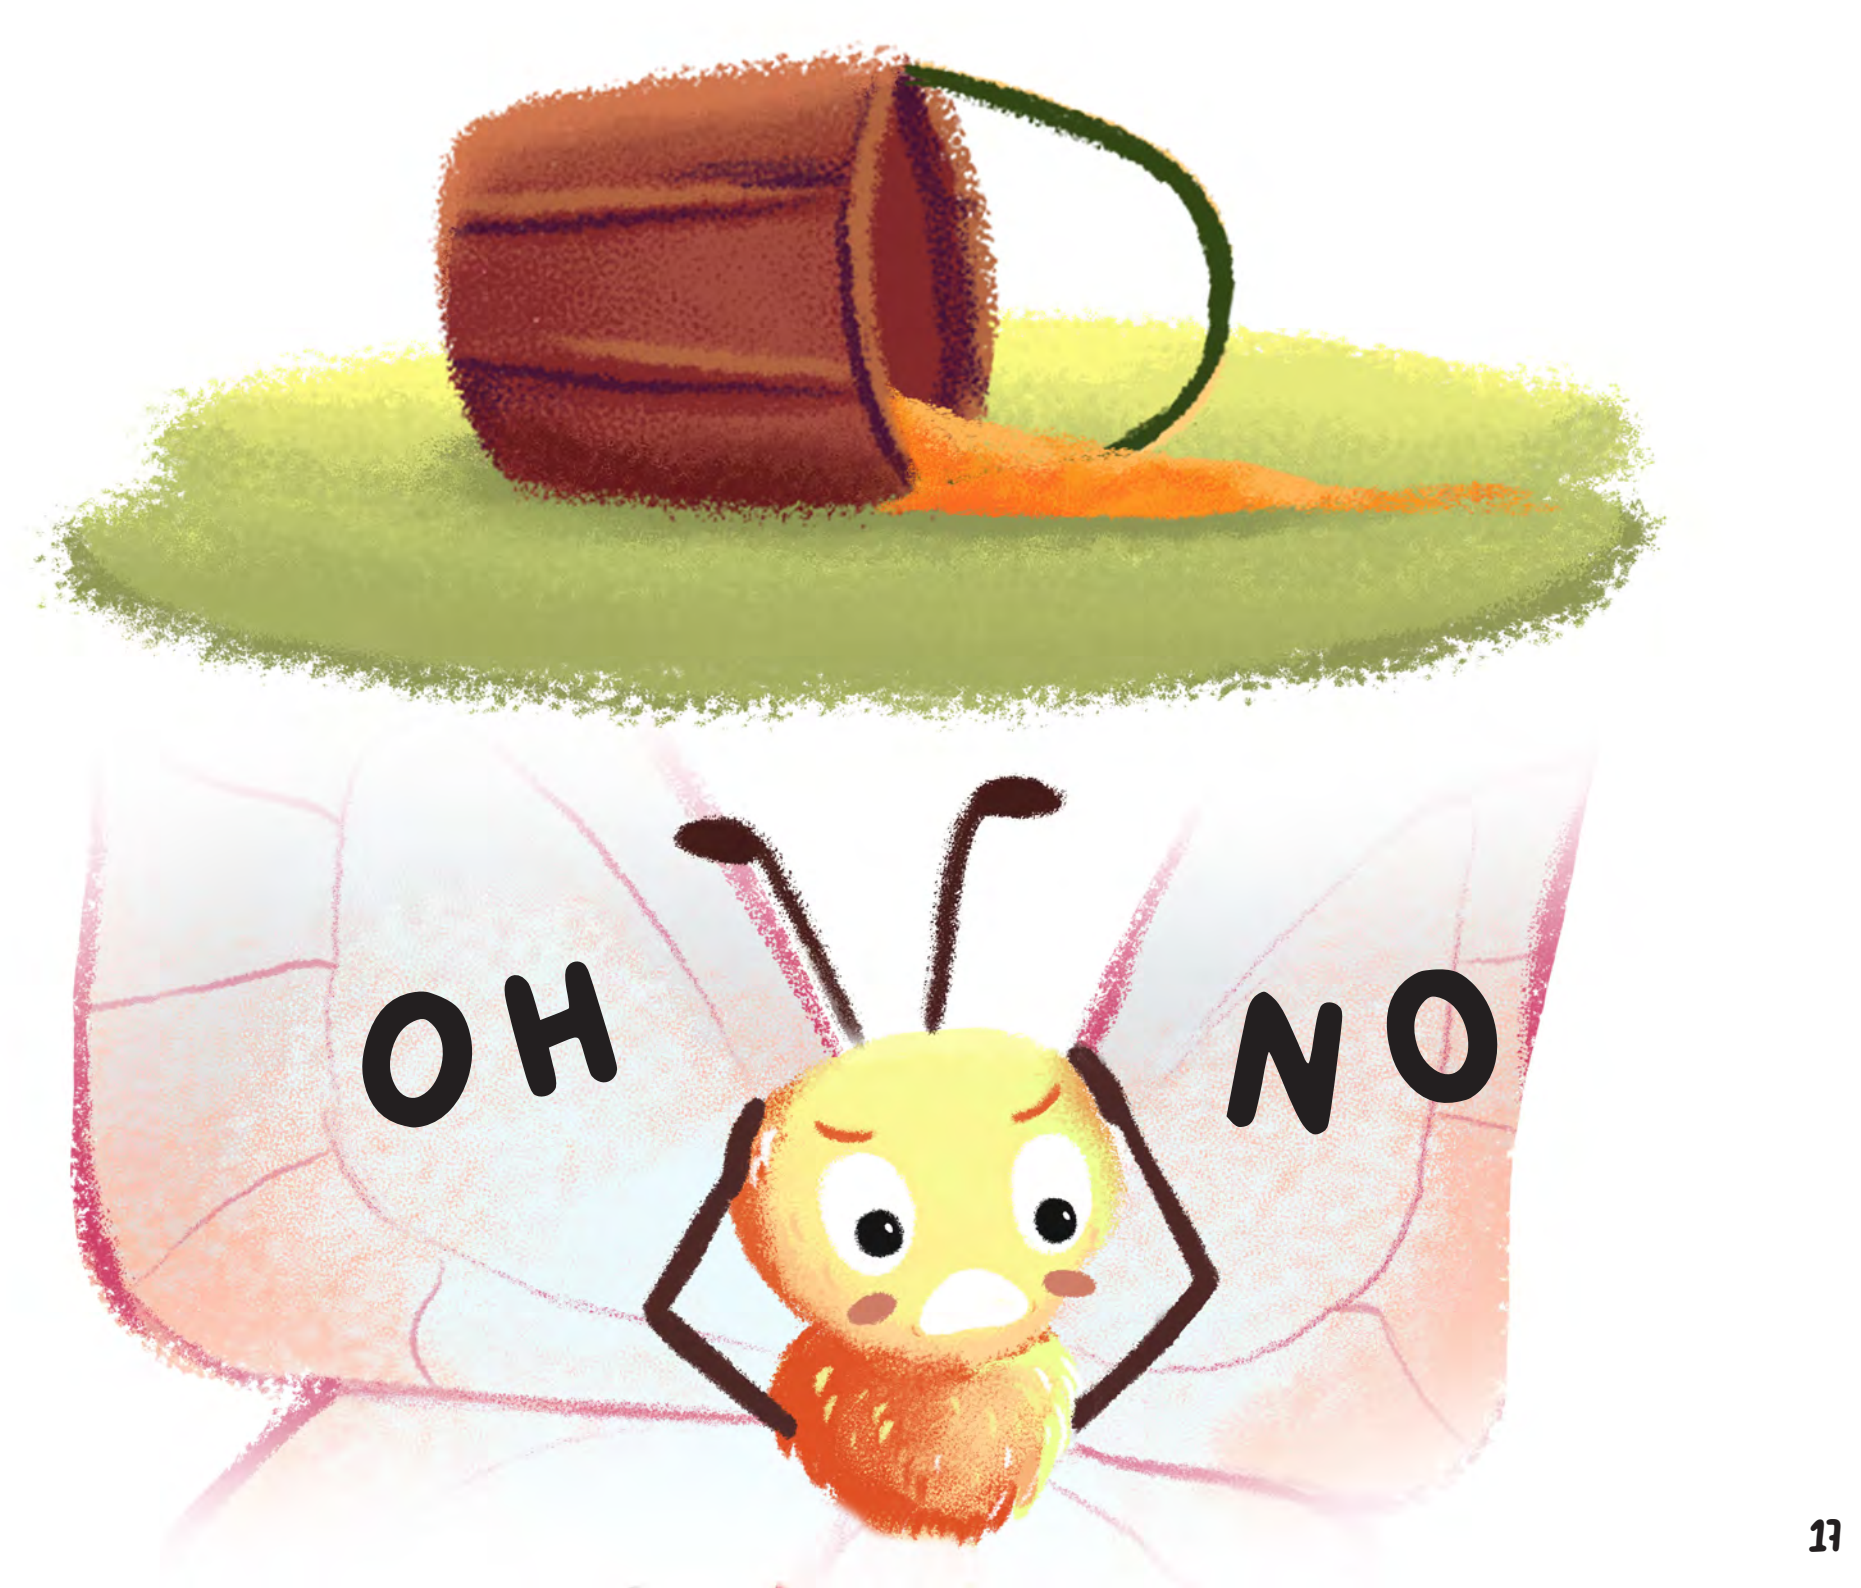

...it was always the butterfly
who got all the credits.

keep it up,
butterfly!

But when nobody was watching,

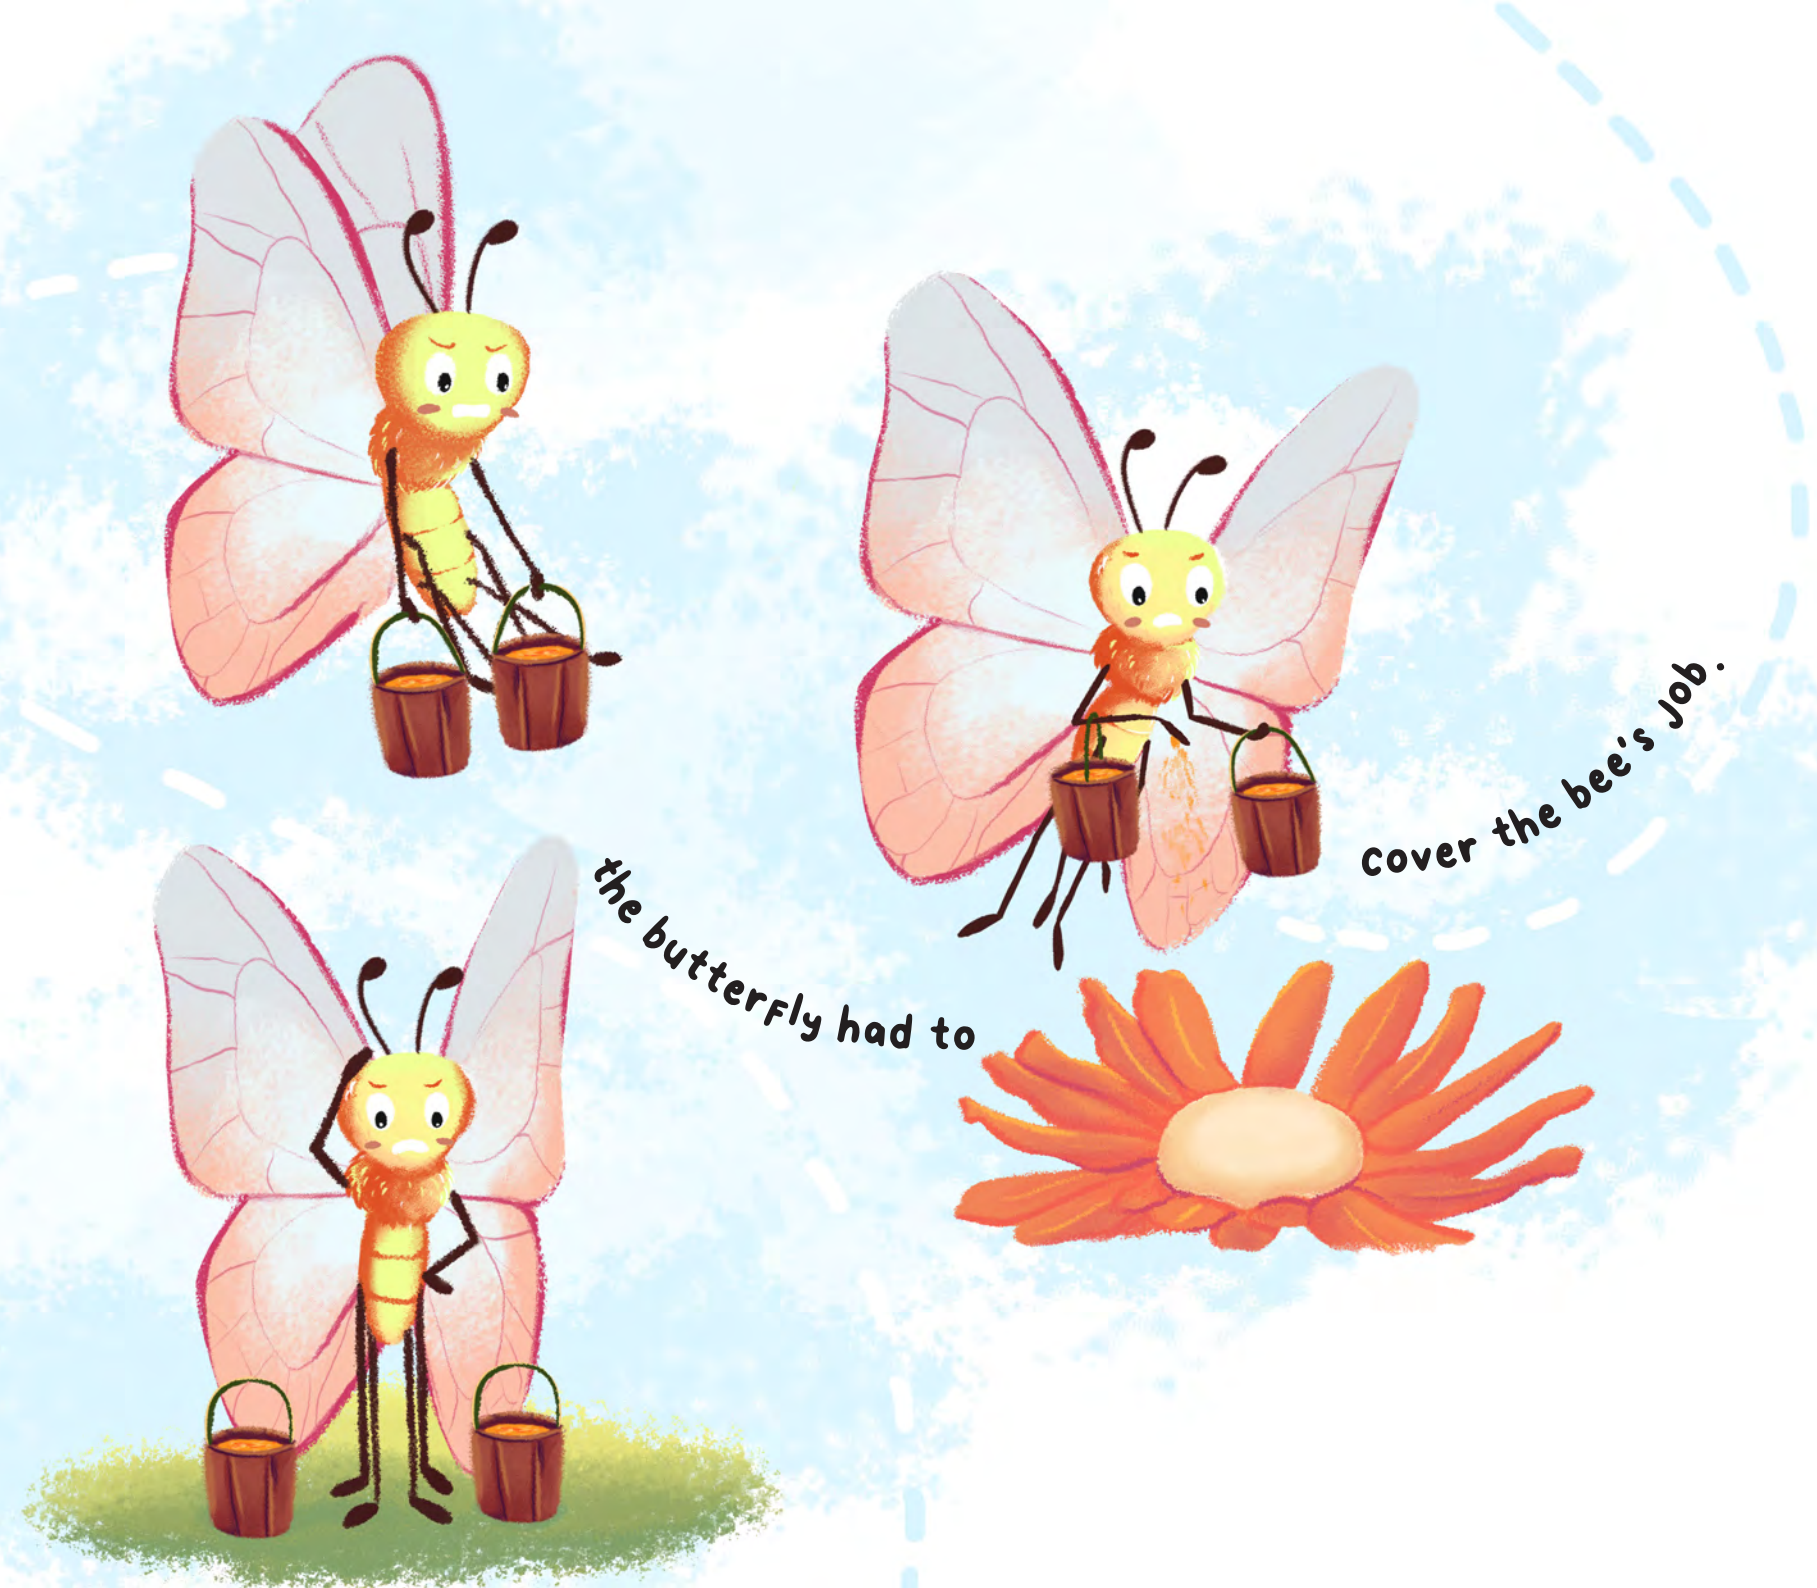

when things went wrong,
they all blamed it on the bee.

....Feeling wronged,
the bee sadly flew away.

the butterfly had to cover the bee's job.

The garden's inhabitants then realized
the butterfly could not do the job alone.

The flowers in the garden slowly started to wither away.

bee?

The garden that once was filled with colorful flowers had slowly turned brown.

Thankfully, the bee
was forgiving enough...

...to come back
despite everything.

follow the story of how the garden's inhabitants realized the importance of bees.
